Worldwide Marriage Encounter: “Many marriages would be better if the husband and the wife clearly understood that they are on the same side.”~ Zig Ziglar. Feel free to call to reserve items or with questions: 612-806-4654.

From Dennis O'Hare: I would like to highly recommend Dr. Amy Fisher with Allina Health Eagan Women's Health Clinic. It is hard to find Ob-Gyn physicians practicing fully consistent with the moral teaching of the Catholic Church. Dr. Fisher now does so as a Catholic convert, whose practice is in our vicinity. And she is a wonderful, pleasant woman! Her decision to cease any contraceptive or sterilization practices puts her practice and employment at risk if she does not stay busy; let's help her glorify God in this manner! Her short statement is below: Amy Fisher, DO FACOG:

- A Catholic obstetrician gynecologist with interest in caring for women from adolescence through the reproductive years and into menopause;
- A focus on natural family planning techniques as a means to monitor, cooperate with the body and to restore health; and
- Provides minimally invasive and robotic surgeries; and
- Infertility management.

GETTING TO KNOW YOU

MEET KAT BROWN

Home: I was born in Omaha, NE. I currently live in South St Paul.

Parish: St. Joseph, West St. Paul

Occupation: I have been a police officer for 16 years. Before that I did youth ministry work for about 5 years including a year on NET, 95-96.

When and why you came to CCR: It was on NET I first learned about the community. After my year on the road, I moved to Illinois doing youth ministry work. After 4 years there I moved back to the Cities because I missed having quality fellowship and unbeknownst to me, the need for community. For the next 17 years I started to engage in various aspects of Community life (service, small group, formation, retreats) off and on but never really made the jump. It was about 5 years ago I decided after a women's retreat it was time for me to be all in or all out.

Small group and District: Parsons group in the Summit district.

Where you are in CCR formation: I made my public commitment last year in 2017.

What about CCR helps you grow in your faith: It was a decision I don't regret. Community has given me a place to have a foundation. I have a place to call home. I have a place to belong and to serve. Its challenges me to love the Lord and remind me the dignity, good, and hope there is in this world.

Hobbies/favorite family activities: I love to travel. Learning to love the outdoors more and more. Love spending time with family and friends and finding new adventures. I love baseball and the movies.

Something CCR members might not know about you: I actually have a fear of heights. So here is a photo of me at the Grand Canyon.
